BranchingOut.

Our business has been sufficiently good for us to branch out a little. In fact we have rented the store next door and made both into one big store with two large archways. We now have more room and a better opportunity to display our goods. We have laid in a big stock for the Spring season, which is now upon us. We have the goods and make the prices. Look at these prices:

House Dresses from 69c to $1.25. Ladies' Skirts, worth $3.50 to $5, at $1.98. Men's and Boys' Overalls, worth $2; now at $1.69.

Men's 50c work Shirts, now 42c. Men's Soft Hats, worth $1 to $2.50, now 98c. Other Hats, worth $3 to $4, now $2.98. Spring Suits for men and boys, in great variety and at very low prices.

Shoes of all kinds going lower than ever. All kinds of Ladies' Muslin Underwear at the lowest prices. Don't forget the place. We give our customers a $1.50 Mirror with each $15 Cash purchase. Call and see us.

McCHESNEY ENTERS RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Stands for Constitutional Amendment Submitting to the People Vote on State-Wide Prohibition of Sale of Liquor.

Says it Must Be Determined Whether They or the Whiskey Interests Shall Rule Kentucky.

With the declaration in favor of Statewide probibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as the chief plank in his platform, the Hon. H. V. McChesney, of Frankfort, has announced himself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor in the State primary of next August.

careful and rigid inspection of all departments of the State government with this purpose in view.

I congratulate the State on the great development in our public school system in recent years, and if elected I shall use every endeavor to further advance the cause of public education. Having de-

Mr. McChesney declares that if nominated and elected, he will urge upon the General Assembly to submit to the people for their ratification an amendment to the Kentucky Constitution providing for Statewide prohibition. In the formal announcement of his candidacy. Mr. McChesney, who several years ago filled the offices of State Superintendent of Public Instruction and Secretary of State, promises an abridgement of public expenditures where it can be properly done, and the further advancement of the present progress in educational and agricultural development.

To the Democratic voters of Kentucky: After mature deliberation I hav decided to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for the office of Governor, in the primary to be held August 7, 1915. In making this announcement it is due those whose support I seek that I briefly outline the policies I advocate.

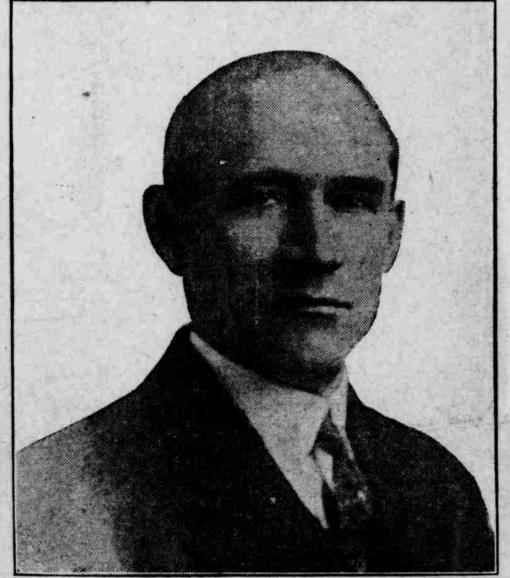

I am in favor of state wide prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxication.

I am in fayor of state wide prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. If nominated and elected is shall urge upon the Legislature of 1916 the passage of an Act submitting a prohibition amendment to the Constitution to the people for their ratification. In view of the large amount of capital invested in the liquor business, however, I shall favor

I congratulate the State on the great development in our public school system in recent years, and if elected I shall use every endeavor to further advance the cause of public education. Having devoted a large part of my life to the cause of the public schools. I am deeply interested in their continued growth.

The increased interest manifested over the increased interest manifested over the State in improved methods of agricul-ture and in the construction of good roads is very gratifying. If elected I shall aid in every way possible in the furtherance of both of these great interests, so vital to the progress and welfare of the whole people.

I am in hearty sympathy with the progressive spirit which has marked the State's advance along many lines in recent years, and it shall be my ambition if elected to see this spirit yield a still greater fruitage in the agricultural, industrial and commercial development of the Commonwealth a provision in the Act giving a reasonable the close of my term I wrote the bill introduced in the first ratification, before it becomes operative, in order that those engaged in the business may adjust their viding the funds for the extra month, affairs without too great a sacrifice. I have no fault to find with the County Cured their passage by the Legislature. Unit Law. I have favored every advanced step taken in its various amendments. It the Board which built the new Capitol. is a step in the right direction, and has been a great blessing to the Commonwealth. Under it 106 counties have voted dry; but the remaining counties contain a very considerable part of the total population of the State. The present law seems inadequate to give relief to the people of most of these counties. And again, the liquor interests, instead of showing respect for the County Unit Law, and for the will of the people as expressed at the polls, have been contesting every election polls, have been contesting every election where the result was dry, and going into the courts with every possible technicality, in an effort to defeat the will of the people. Not only has this been their attitude toward the law and its enforcement, but they have made it their business to bitterly oppose every man who aspires to public office who does not take his orders from them. A temperance man can not run for any office in Kentucky, however humble, without feeling the weight of their wrath, expressed in the usual way. Their efforts to dominate the politics of the State have increased as county after county has been added to the dry column, until their influence has become a menace to popular government.

In view of all this it seems that there is but one solution to the problem, and that is to submit it to the whole people that we may know once and for all time whether the people or the liquor interests are to rule in Kentucky. Not only is this the logic of the situation, but it is absolutely fair. Who can be heard to say that the people as a whole haven't a right to people. Not only has this been their atti-tude toward the law and its enforcement, is but one solution to the problem, and that is to submit it to the whole people that we may know once and for all time whether the people or the liquor interests are to rule in Kentucky. Not only is this the logic of the situation, but it is absolutely fair. Who can be heard to say that the people as a whole haven't a right to pass on a question so vitally affecting their moral and financial welfare? We submit good roads amendments and taxation amendments to the whole people—

Best consideration. Of this das a private citizen, with whatever ability I may possess, I shall devote my entire time and energy to the discharge of the duties of the office in an effort to promote the moral, educational and business interests of the Commonwealth, to the end that it may become a better place even than it is now in which to live. tion amendments to the whole people-why not submit this question, infinitely why not submit this question, infinitely more vital to them?

As stated above, I am not unmindful of the property interests involved. It is to be regretted that moral reforms often bring financial loss to some; but the public conscience instifies the loss to the few when it means an infinitely greater saving to the many. The onward march of Christian civilization must not be retarded because a few men have invested their money in the business constituting the obstruction.

My familiarity with the dinancial affairs of the State, as a result of eight years' experience (from 1900 to 1907) as Superintendent of Public Instruction and Secretary of State, and as a member of the Sinking Fund Board, leads me to the belief that such a revision of our taxation aystem can be made as will readily reduce the State debt, and make good any decrease in revenues that might arrise from the loss of the tax on liquors. And this can be done without any increase of the zx rats. Saving State revenues is just as important as producing them. With the elimination of the liquor business from Kentucky the saving to the State in criminal prosecutions alone would be an enore of the financial problem. If the money spent for liquor in Kentucky and for criminal prosecutions growing out of its use can be saved, in half a dozen years we can relieve the financial situation of the financial problem. If the money of the financial problem. If the money of the financial problem. If the money of the financial problem as a solution of the financial problem. If the money of the financial problem is the state and school house in the Commonwealth.

Another large saving can be accomplished by the elimination of all useless offices, and if elected I shall institute a problem of the Commonwealth.

Another large saving can be accomplished by the elimination of all useless offices, and if elected I shall institute a problem of the Commonwealth.

more comprehensive basis, a new Capitol built, many other progressive movements fostered, all without increasing the tax rate, and a full treasury turned over to the succeeding administration. I am proud to have had a part in making that record.

Moonlight School Contests Close The contests between teachers and The contests between teachers and trustees for the prizes offered by Kentucky's statesman for the best moonlight school were very warm ones, many being in close competition for the prize. The sworn reports of teachers and letters from adults who had been taught to write showed ex-cellent results for the sessions of 1914.

Adair county captured the grand prize, $50.00 offered by Senator Ollie M. James for the best moonlight school n Kentucky, Mrs. W. L. Russell was the winner.

McCreary and Hardin counties won the $50.00 prize of Senator J. Camden to the trustee who best promoted the moonlight school work. W. P. Johnson, trustee at Barren Fork, McCreary county, and Rev. J. A. Fryrear, of Hardin county, tied for the prize and the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission divided the prize between them. Mr. Johnson is an old soldier and fought in the battle of Gettysburg. He climbed a cliff each evening to be in the moonlight school and taught one of the classes. He is 70 years of age. Rev. Fryrear has served 28 years as school trustee. having the longest term of service of any trustee in the State. He is 70 vears of age and a Baptist minister. He put forth a heroic effort to make the moonlight school in his district

Congressman W. J. Field's prize of $25.00 for the best moonlight school the Ninth District was won by Bath county. This was the most heated of all the contests, there being some excellent schools in Mason, Montgomery, Rowan and other counties, which ran the prize school in Bath a close race. Virgil Jones, a young teacher, won the honors for Congressman J. Campbell Can-trill's prize of $25.00 for the best moonlight school in the Seventh District was won by Dudley Caudill, of Powell county.

Illiteracy Census
The school trustees of Kentucky will be given an opportunity to play an important part in the illiteracy an important part in the illiteracy campaign. They are being asked by the County Superintendents, the State Superintendent and the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission to take a census of the pupil children, of who cannot read and write. Their names will be reported to the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission at tucky Illiteracy Commission, at Frankfort. This is a move in the right direction. No. doubt, the trustees will count it a high privilege to serve the State in this way. It will require very little extra exertion, and will help to show Kentucky's real standing. Also, it will enable the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission to know where illiteracy is most prevalent, and it may be sending out the life-line to many a deprived man or woman. School authorities are lending hearty co-operation, and the public will await the results with interest. Above all things, this census should be accurate. There is nothing to be gained by either concealing or overestimating the illiteracy of a

Than be the Czar of Russia,
With his riches and his truck—
Say, I wouldn't take his kingdom
For one corner of old "Kaintuck." Jes lazin' in the corn
On an old Kaimtucky hillside
Than any King that's born.
I'd rather watch the Bluegrass
Nod its dainty head, and bow
Than see the slickest picture
In old Italy, I swow.
It seems to me old nature,
When she cut Kaintucky out—
Came pretty near a-knowin' Came pretty near a-knowin'
The thing she was a bout—
So she made another Eden With the sweetest flowers that grew And christened in Kaintucky With a jug of "mountain dew."
There ain't no other corner Of this hemisphere of ours
Whar old Mother Earth is kivered
With such dainty perfumed flowers,
Whar old teeter-birds and thrushes
Can ejaculate such notes,
As they can in old Kaintucky As they can in old Kaintucky
From their little feathered throats.
